THE STATE MILITIA.

In his special message on retrenchment Governor Dingley in the enumeration of expenditures which he thought might bear the application of the pruning knife, suggested that the appropriations for the State Volunteer Militia and an Annual Military Encampment, as well as those for re-stocking our rivers with food fishes will undoubtedly be carefully considered. The subjects are so entirely dissimilar in character that we presume that by classing them thus together in his text the Governor had no idea of suggesting that they should necessarily receive the same treatment. The one relates to preparation for contingencies while the other is an important matter of domestic economy and we [illegible] the expenditure for supplying our waters with food fishes was about half the sum incurred last year for purposes of the militia. We had supposed the importance of restoring the food supply of our interior waters to be fully appreciated and that the [illegible] encouraging [illegible] that the Governor casually cited this among the items of his exhibit of expenditures [illegible] useful work [illegible] economically performed. But the matter of military expenditures is one concerning which opinions differ materially [illegible] the suggestion that they be [illegible] would not be [illegible] [illegible] bestowed on the subject [illegible] reports of the attendance of a number of the [illegible] Augusta [illegible] stated that in [illegible] retrenchment [illegible] quarter the committee [illegible] to report in favor of an appropriation of twenty thousand dollars for the current year.

Now it is an ungracious task to even appear to [illegible] the gallant soldiery of our State and we [illegible] to preface our remarks by declaring that [illegible] the maintenance of a well-disciplined militia [illegible] efficient corps of citizen soldiers which constitute our State Militia. [illegible] should receive a proper and adequate [illegible] the only question is as to how much expenditure the State can afford at this time to devote to military purposes. We do not understand that any request for increased appropriation has proceeded from the companies or that the increase is to add to the emoluments of the soldiers. Without having seen the bill proposed we cannot speak with certainty but it has been intimated that the proposition is to organize a second regiment without increasing the aggregate number of men, providing for twenty companies of fifty men each instead of ten companies of one hundred men each. This [illegible] of the [illegible] of the existing [illegible] would seem to interest the members of these organizations and those [illegible] are to be enlisted more directly than [illegible] it may be that [illegible] adequate military reason for [illegible] But while the militia force of the State is not to be increased it is proposed to nearly double the expenditures of the last year. The question is therefore [illegible] expediency in organization but whether the benefits of the proposed change will [illegible] so large an additional appropriation.

The formation of another regiment would create a large addition of the number of officers but [illegible] that there has been a general impression of a deficiency in that respect. Under the present organization of the Militia [illegible] and the force of one thousand men which is hardly expected to turn out with full ranks can be placed in the field under the direct supervision of the Commander-in-Chief, one Major General, two Brigadier Generals, five Colonels, [illegible] Lieutenant Colonels, five Majors, one Adjutant, one Quartermaster, three Surgeons, one Chaplain, twelve Captains [illegible] the regulation number of non-commissioned officers. Of course the above list [illegible] be classed as non-combatants but we have given the rank and numbers from the official roster of the State Militia without pretending to assign the distribution of the members [illegible] The list shows sixty one commissioned officers to one thousand men, or one to about every sixteen soldiers. The formation of a new regiment would double the number of the officers making thirty and if one regiment requires a Division Staff we presume that it would require that of an Army Corps [illegible] of which an [illegible] knowledge [illegible] understand that we do not pretend to say [illegible] any Brigadier Generals and Colonels etc are required to maintain a platoon of soldiers but if [illegible] to cost twice as much money to handle [illegible] thousand men in two regiments as for one thousand men in one regiment it would seem that officers are to cost as much as the troops. If we really need an increase in that direction we must have [illegible] and of course [illegible] pay for it but the necessity should be more than apparent to justify a large increase of appropriation in these hard times.

It is barely possible that in what we have written we may have exposed our lamentable ignorance of military affairs and we can almost imagine some gentleman in gold braid and epaulettes withering us by the contemptuous inquiry "What do you know about war?" Well we confess to some confusion of mind on the subject but there are many good people similarly unfamiliar with grand tactics and for their benefit and our own we suggest that a detailed statement of all the expenditures on account of the State Militia during the past year would enable the public to judge of the cost and consequent value of the various component parts of our volunteer force. We think such an exhibit could hardly fail to be of service in determining the propriety of changing the system and increasing the appropriation.

It has been suggested that the last encampment demonstrated the need of more officers from the fact that its affairs have remained in an unsettled condition up to the present time. Far be it from us to intimate that anything should have been added to the arduous weight of staff duty imposed at the late Encampment in this city, for we are aware of the large attendance of ladies and recognize the importance of inspiring the military enthusiasm of the wives and mothers of Maine's future soldiery, but it is rather unpleasant and mortifying to have the State engaged in months of controversy with citizens over a few bushels of wheat and a few cords of wood taken for military purposes, or to have the Legislature called in to liquidate claims for the food supplied to the soldiers.

We do not think the soldiers will misunderstand our cordial friendliness toward their organizations in two or three of which located in this vicinity we have always felt an especial pride. We would have the State deal liberally with the troops and provide for maintaining their efficiency and esprit du corps, but we would have our military legislation governed solely by regard for the public interests and the benefit of the service.

THE BROOKLYN TRIAL.

The great scandal case in the Brooklyn Court has progressed through another week with Tilton on the stand undergoing the courteous but relentless cross-examination of Evarts. The voluminous reports of the proceedings show that Tilton for a man with broken heart and blasted life has a wonderful fondness for small jokes and the exhibition of smartness while his examiner quietly persistently and skillfully compels unwilling answers to his questions, some of them appearing trivial at first but invariably leading up to a salient point of the case. Since Mr Evarts took this witness in hand there has been much less interruption and objection by the plaintiff's counsel than before his method leaving little opportunity for interposition by his opponents. His examination has covered a wide range and has been extremely searching and minute. As in the case of Moulton it has been noticed that his principal while displaying a remarkable recollection of all facts bearing in his favor has a [illegible] defective memory upon all points of a troublesome character. Moulton's direct examination was a [illegible] speech [illegible] but the record shows that a large proportion of the queries of the cross-examination were met with "I don't remember" or "I have no recollection about it." For the last three or four days Tilton has made liberal use of similar phrases. The peculiarity can hardly have failed to attract the attention of the jury.

The purpose of the defense is plainly to establish a conspiracy on the part of Tilton and Moulton and Mr Evarts has been [illegible] [illegible] material for this theory during the cross-examination. The relations of Tilton to the Woodhull [illegible] particularly inquired into and Tilton's [illegible] biography [illegible] skillfully brought before the jury by reading its [illegible] the basis of questions as to whether he entertained the [illegible] expressed. One of the most adroit acts [illegible] of Mr Evarts on that day was when he asked Tilton if the Woodhull obtained the material for her scandal from Tilton, Moulton or Beecher, the witness [illegible] that Mrs Morse was the [illegible] and that she was notorious for [illegible] [illegible] this point Mr [illegible] the lawyer finally approached it again by asking Tilton if he had talked about the scandal to anyone [illegible] Tilton said he had to a good [illegible] Evarts inquired whether they were likely to have repeated it to Mrs Morse. When the witness said no he had told himself. Then said the lawyer, with a [illegible] emphasis, the information of Mrs Woodhull did come from you!

The most important feature of the [illegible] however was the unexpected production by Mr Evarts on Friday of a considerable part of what Tilton called the True Story, prepared by him just after the Woodhull publication, and intended to [illegible] The plaintiff had testified that the paper had been destroyed by Mrs Tilton all but a few loose sheets which he had found in the house after her departure. The sheets were produced on Mr Evarts' [illegible] and taking up a book of manuscript produced a sensation by reading the opening lines of the True Story. This was a surprise to the plaintiff and his counsel who were evidently puzzled to imagine where the defense had procured the document. Mr Evarts proceeded to read paragraph by paragraph [illegible] Tilton to its correctness the [illegible] identifying part and [illegible] other.

The importance of the True Story lies in the fact that it was prepared by Tilton to disprove the aspersion upon his wife's character in the Woodhull paper and was shown by him to many persons. It showed that Tilton [illegible] the story of criminality him [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] Mrs Tilton [illegible] have been that Mr Beecher had made improper proposals to her and this is the basis of the story. In [illegible] interview with Beecher the latter made no attempt to deny the imputation of adultery but in [illegible] [illegible] that Beecher [illegible] at [illegible] charge of [illegible] impropriety with [illegible] expressed his disbelief that Mrs Tilton could have [illegible] accusation and Tilton told him [illegible] [illegible] The Story further quotes the [illegible] denials of Paulina W Davis [illegible] Mrs Stanton cited as the principal authority of the Woodhull story and [illegible] explicit denials by Mrs Tilton and Mr Beecher. He refers to his wife's own solemn and truthful declaration that the Woodhull's orders were preposterous and wicked slanders and quotes a letter from her to Moulton beginning:

"For my husband's sake and my children's I hereby testify with all my soul that I am innocent of the crime of impure conduct alleged against me. I have been to my husband a true wife. In his love I ask to live and die."

It is intimated that the prosecution will claim that this paper was prepared by Tilton to deceive others as to the facts, but the defense will doubtless insist that it was the original charge which has since been changed to that of adultery and that the plaintiff counted upon the supposed non-existence of this document. The developments of the trial are watched with increasing interest and the effect produced by Moulton's glib testimony has already been considerably impaired. Tilton's examination will be concluded Monday, and curiosity is excited as to who will be the next witness.

OUR SENIOR SENATOR.

In the Sacramento Daily Record of Jan 9th a letter from its special Washington correspondent describing some of the leading men of the United States Senate, contains the following reference to Hon Hannibal Hamlin of Maine:

"That dark-skinned, gray haired, slightly bald, broad-shouldered, good-looking Senator beside him (Howe) is one of the "Noblest Romans of them all." His legislative experience and his parliamentary knowledge are of great value to the Senate at times. He has been more or less prominent in public life for forty years, thirty years ago he was in Congress; twenty-six years ago he was in the Senate, then Governor of Maine, then the first Republican Vice-President of the United States. Of course you know it is none other than Hannibal Hamlin, the sturdy Republican who flung the collectorship of Boston port in the face of the apostate Andrew Johnson, and was soon after elected to his old seat in the Senate, which he so worthily fills. Bitterly has the Republican party regretted the mistake of the National Convention which refused him a second Vice Presidential election and gave it to A. J. instead. He talks little on the floor, but that little has pith and purpose in it. After long debates, which perhaps have been so parliamentarily entangled that it is difficult to see the way out he often rises and cuts the knot with a single concise suggestion. He is very attentive to the minor wants of his constituents, as well as to general legislation, and is rarely absent from his seat."

BOWDOIN COMMENCEMENT. Hon J P. Benson informs the Brunswick Telegraph that the Committee have secured the services of Rev Dr Cheever, as Orator, and Henry W Longfellow as Poet for the next Commencement when it is hoped that a large number of the Class of 1825 will be present to celebrate its semi-centennial.

CONSUMPTIVES TAKE NOTICE

Every moment of delay makes your cure more hopeless and much depends on the judicious choice of a remedy. The amount of testimony in favor of Dr Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup as a cure for consumption far exceeds all that can be brought to support the pretensions of any other medicine. See Dr Schenck's Almanac, containing the certificates of many persons of the highest respectability who have been restored to health after being pronounced incurable by physicians of acknowledged ability. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup alone has cured many as these evidences will show, but the cure is often promoted by the employment of two other remedies which Dr Schenck provides for the purpose. These additional remedies are Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills. By the timely use of these medicines according to directions Dr Schenck certifies that most any case of Consumption may be cured.

Dr Schenck will be at the Quincy House, Boston on the following Wednesdays, from 9 to 3 o'clock Jan 13th and 27th Feb 10th and 24th and March 10th and 24th. Consultation free; but for a thorough examination of the lungs with the Respirometer the price is $5.

EDMUND BURKE,

Late Commissioner of Patents.

Mr R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part, leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.

MAINE NEWS.

FROM THE STATE CAPITAL.

Saturday in the Legislature—Various Matters Disposed of—Grant to an Aroostook Railroad—Paupers and Railroad Directors Considered

[SPECIAL TO THE WHIG AND COURIER.]

AUGUSTA, Feb 13. The Senate held a short session to-day and then adjourned over until 3 o'clock P. M. Monday.

The House receded and concurred with the Senate in indefinitely postponing the bill giving a lien on pressed hay for personal services rendered.

The Calais and Ellsworth railroad bill was tabled in the House and assigned for Tuesday next.

The House passed an order allowing to all members of that branch who take their [illegible] before the day of adjournment by permission, or otherwise to be paid at the rate of $2 00 per day.

Unfavorable reports were made on the proposition (majority report) that counties sustain bridges in towns where such [illegible] cost more than $300, on the taxation of church property, and relating to taxation of corporations.

A minority report was made by the Committee on Roads and Bridges in relation to requiring bridges in towns which cost more than $300 to be built and maintained at the expense of the county which was tabled and ordered to be printed.

The House rejected the Senate amendment (relating to fees) to the Auburn Municipal Court bill, and gave the bill a passage to be engrossed.

The Bangor Northern Aroostook railroad bill received a final passage in the House.

A Bangor Muster Claim

A resolve was reported in favor of [illegible] H. Getchell & Son of Bangor, calling for an appropriation of $290 23 for rations furnished by them to the troops at the military encampment in Bangor last year. The resolve was ordered to be printed.

Burleigh Lumber Manufacturing Company

The bill incorporating this company was reported back from the committee in a more satisfactory form. It provides for a capital of $50 000 with power to increase the same to $100 000. It was read once and assigned for Monday next.

Land Office

Senator Cutler's amendment in relation to the Land Office was adopted and the bill was given a passage by the Senate. The bill as it now reads provides that the Land Agent, under the direction of the Governor and Council, shall, as speedily as the public good allow, bring to a termination all [illegible] business connected with the Land Office, and relating to lands belonging to the State. It creates the Governor, State Treasurer and Land Agent a commission to inquire what further steps are necessary in order to finally close up the affairs of the Land Office and placing the settling fund in such state as shall be for the best interest of the State and hasten their settlement and report to the next Legislature. It makes valid all the official acts of Parker P. Burleigh as Land Agent since December 31, 1874.

The Pauper Bill

The amendatory bill to section 22 of chapter 24 of the Revised Statutes relating to paupers came up in the Senate. It provides that whenever any city or town shall furnish relief to a pauper or paupers having no legal settlement in this State the State shall reimburse such city or town affording them relief to the amount the Governor and Council adjudge to have been necessarily expended therefor. The Senate adhered to its former vote indefinitely postponing the bill which had received a final passage in the House, when, on motion of Senator Cutler the vote was reconsidered and pending his motion to recede and concur with the House, the bill was tabled and assigned for Wednesday next. The object of this motion is to send the bill to a conference committee.

Deputy Town Treasurers

Senator Atwood's amendment relating to the appointment of deputy town treasurers was given a passage by the Senate.

Judicial Proceedings

A bill was reported which provides that in the presentation of a petition for relief the Supreme Judicial Court, or any Justice thereof may in term time, or in vacation, direct what notice shall be given of its pendency.

Jail Inspectors

An amendatory bill was reported which gives Jail Inspectors power to remove prisoners from jails where no arrangements are made for the convicts to labor, to some other jail where facilities for labor are afforded.

Aid to the Aroostook Railroad.

A resolve was reported which provides that upon the completion of the Aroostook Railroad from the boundary line between Maine and New Brunswick, commencing on the east line of Fort Fairfield to a point near the bridge in Lyndon across the Aroostook river, to the satisfaction of the R R Commissioners, 15,000 acres of land unsuitable for settling purposes to be designated and located by the Land Agent, or by the County Commissioners of Aroostook, if there shall be no Land Agent, when the land shall be located, are granted to this railroad company, the land to be located in the towns of Lyndon, Limestone and Washburn, and in the plantations of Woodland and Perham, but if there shall not be 15 000 acres in said towns and plantations unsuitable for settling purposes belonging to the State, then the balance of the said 15,000 acres which shall not have been located, in the places aforesaid, shall be taken from and located in Township F, Range 1, W. E. L. S. When the railroad company shall be entitled to a conveyance of the land aforesaid, it shall be conveyed to the company by the State. The resolve was ordered to be printed.

Bangor Schools.

The House rejected the Senate amendment to the Bangor School bill, and passed it to be engrossed as originally reported.

Railroad Directors.

The House took up the bill relating to directors of railroads, which provides that whenever any city or town in this State shall, in its corporate capacity, hold one-fifth or more of the shares in the capital stock of any railroad incorporated by the Legislature of this State, any citizen of such city or town being a freeholder and resident therein, shall be eligible as a director of such railroad company.

Mr. Snow, of Hallowell, moved to amend by adding at least three-fourths of any board of directors of any railroad located wholly in this State, shall be inhabitants of this State.

Mr. Tefft, of Brewer, suggested that "three-fourths" in the gentleman's amendment be changed to "two-thirds," and the modification was accepted.

Mr. Powers, of Houlton, remarked that it struck him, if the amendment was adopted, a statute would be passed which would say to foreign capitalists who build railroads in Maine, "You shall not elect directors of your road, unless so many of you live in Maine." He moved to lay the amendment on the table, which was done, and it was also voted to have it printed.

Finally Passed.

The following have finally passed both branches and gone to the Governor for his approval:

An act additional to chapter 213 of the Public laws of 1874 relating to fishing; an act for the protection of deer on the island of Mount Desert; an act authorizing the inhabitants of the town of Brunswick to unite a town building with a soldiers' monument; an act to incorporate the Presque Isle and St. John River Railroad Company; an act to extend the time for location and completion of the George's Valley Railroad.

Resolve in aid of repairing the road from Abbot to Greenville in the county of Piscataquis; resolve granting a pension to Charles W. Owen; resolve making appropriation for the Penobscot tribe of Indians; resolve in favor of the Military and Naval Asylum at Bath; resolve in favor of the sub-Committee on Agriculture appointed to visit the State College of Agriculture.

A Sinking Fund Bill

[TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

A bill will probably be presented early next week providing for the abolition of the sinking fund of 1868, in accordance with the recommendation of the Governor in his message. The bill will provide for the issue of bonds to renew that part of the State debt falling due on or before Jan 1, 1889.

DOMESTIC NEWS.

FORTY-THIRD CONGRESS—Second Session

WASHINGTON, Feb 13.

Senate

Mr. Ferry, of Connecticut, presented the credentials of W. W. Eaton, appointed United States Senator from Connecticut, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Wm A. Buckingham. Mr Eaton, being present, was escorted to the Vice President's desk by Mr. Ferry and sworn in.

Mr Sargent presented a memorial of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company against the repeal of the subsidy granted that company. Referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr Conkling presented a memorial of the Shipowners' Association of New York in favor of granting the appropriations asked for by General Newton for the improvement of Hell Gate. Referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr Dorsey introduced a joint resolution authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to admit free of duty the diamond necklace presented by the Khedive of Egypt to Minnie Sherman Fitch. Referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

After the presentation of several memorials, petitions, etc., which were referred, the Senate resumed the consideration of the bill to provide a government for the District of Columbia.

Mr Merrill of Maine gave notice that he would ask the Senate to continue in session to-day until the bill be disposed of. He appealed to Mr Morton not to call up the resolution for the admission of Pinchback to-day. He said he would not press the consideration of the District bill after to-day.

Mr. Morton said that with the understanding that further consideration would not be pressed after to-day he would not call up the resolution for the admission of Pinchback and he hoped now it was the general understanding by the Senate that this resolution should be considered on Monday.

Several amendments were acted upon, including one which was adopted striking out in the fifty second section the clause making the owner of premises where spirituous liquors were sold liable for damages to any person who shall be injured in person or property by any intoxicated person obtaining liquor from such premises.

The section of the District of Columbia bill providing for compulsory education was amended so that children shall not be employed who have not been to school between the ages of 8 and 16 years. After further action in the Committee of the Whole the bill was reported to the Senate.

Mr Edmunds moved to amend so as to have two Commissioners elected by the people and one appointed by the President.

Mr Hamilton raised the point of order that the amendment had already been voted upon once.

Mr Edmund replied that it had not.

Mr Stewart moved to amend the amendment so as to have two commissioners appointed by the President and one elected by the people. Agreed to—yeas 33, nays [illegible].

Mr Edmunds said it was evident that the Senate was playing at cross purposes and as they were in the hands of the Philistines he moved that the Senate adjourn. Agreed to—yeas, 25, nays, 19.

Mr Morton again gave notice that he would move to proceed to the consideration of the resolution for the admission of Pinchback on Monday.

The Senate then at 6 20 adjourned.

House.

The House resumed the consideration of bills from the War Claims Committee in the private calendar which were reported from the Committee of the Whole yesterday. The bill to provide for the relief of certain loyal creditors whose moneys were confiscated by the Confederate Congress, pending a vote on which the House adjourned yesterday, was defeated 143 to 11. The bill making compensation for supplies taken by Union soldiers during the Morgan raid was defeated, after which the House went into a Committee of the Whole to take up the Pension and Military Academy Appropriation bills.

After considering the Pension Appropriation bill and Military Academy bill rose and reported them to the House and they were thereupon passed.

A bill reported by Mr. Gunckel, from the Committee on Military Affairs, to equalize soldiers bounties, having been made a special order for to-day, Mr Dawes raised the question of its consideration, desiring to proceed with the Tariff bill. The question was decided, 96 to 56, that the bounty bill should have the precedence. The bill provides for the payment to every non-commissioned officer musician artificer wagoner and private soldier, "including those borne on the rolls as slaves" who served in the army and were honorably discharged, of eight dollars and one-third a month for the term of his service between April 12, 1861 and May 9, 1865, with a deduction of all other bounties heretofore paid by the United States, substitutes or such as were prisoners of war at the time of enlistment; also such as were discharged as minors or at their own request from other cause than disability incurred in the service prior to April 19, 1866, unless such discharge was obtained with a view to re-enlistment or to accept promotion in the military or naval service. Where the soldier is dead the bounty is to be paid to the widow, if not remarried, or to the minor child or children. Mr. Gunckel made a statement as to the bill, prefacing it with the reading of the planks in both the Republican and Democratic platforms pledging those parties to do justice to the soldiers. The Republican party he said had performed all its pledges but two—the passage of the Civil Rights bill, and "the House had done its part in that," and the bill to equalize bounties. The bill he said would answer every complaint and fulfill every reasonable expectation of every soldier in the country and would mete exact justice to all men who served during the war for whatever term and from whatever locality.

Mr. Hawley and Mr. Kellogg of Connecticut commented on the injustice of requiring States which had already paid bounties to their soldiers to be taxed for the benefit of those States that had not done so. [illegible]

Mr. Willard of Vermont opposed the bill on the same ground and showed that Vermont from April, 1861, to the end of the war had paid her soldiers, numbering 25,000 in all, bounty at the rate of seven dollars per month. These men would derive no advantage from the bill except the difference between seven and eight and one-third dollars.

Mr. Myers of Pennsylvania moved to amend the bill by making it apply also to sailors and marines.

Mr Gunckel of Ohio allowed the amendment to be offered, but said it would add ten millions to the debt of the bill.

Mr. Comingo's amendment was admitted and agreed to that the act should extend to all soldiers mustered into the service of the United States, and subsisted, paid and clothed by the United States.

Mr. Small of New Hampshire opposed the bill as being unjust in its provisions. New Hampshire had paid a bounty of $300 to her three years' men and $200 to her two years' men and $100 to her one year men, besides bounties paid by towns, which had since been reimbursed. New Hampshire soldiers therefore would not get a dollar under this bill, while New Hampshire would be called upon to help pay the soldiers of other States. He protested on behalf of his State against the passage of the bill.

Mr. Dawes of Massachusetts represented that according to the figures which had been made for Mr Gunckel by persons who had been employed in the Second Auditor's office it appeared that this bill would take $78,752,532 out of the Treasury, but from these figures there were subtractions made in the handwriting of the gentleman (Gunckel) reducing the amount to $29 000,000. It had been said by the gentleman from Ohio that the payment would extend over ten years but he ought to recollect that the Treasury must be ready to meet the demand at once so that in point of fact even at the gentleman's own figures the Treasury would have to add twenty or thirty millions to the existing deficiency.

Mr Garfield of Ohio read a telegram just received by him from the Second Comptroller to the effect that the bill would call for $100,000,000.

Mr Dawes in closing his remarks asked the gentleman however kindly they might feel towards the soldier to look to the honor and faith of the Nation and not to diminish until provision was made to meet the obligations of the Government and not to prefer to such a measure a bill that would take so large an amount out of the Treasury.

Mr Sypher of Louisiana—Suppose the bill does take $100 000,000 out of the Treasury, will not that amount be saved by the next Democratic administration?

Mr Dawes—I would rather see it first.

Mr Gunckel replied to Mr Dawes' remarks and charged him with unfairness in his representation.

Mr Coburn of Ind., argued in support of the bill.

Mr. Speer of Pa., also advocated the bill.

After the debate closed the House proceeded to vote on the bill and amendments. Mr Comingo's amendment making the bill apply to Missouri regiments was agreed to. Mr. Myers' amendment to include sailors and marines was agreed to. The amendment offered by Mr. Shanks to include Indians, was also agreed to. The bill was then passed. Yeas, 177, nays, 30.

Mr Lawrence of Ohio from the Committee on War Claims reported the bill to pay the claims allowed by the Commissioners of Claims and moved the previous question on its passage but pending the vote and amid great confusion arising from the efforts of a dozen members to be recognized, to make some motion or request the House adjourned.

MINNESOTA

A new Phase in the Senatorial Contest.

ST PAUL, Feb 12. The senatorial contest assumed a new phase this afternoon, Governor Davis sent a letter to his friends withdrawing his name on condition that Ramsey [illegible] also withdrawn. The friends of the latter promptly responded and neither of the Republican contestants is now a candidate. No joint caucus was held and no new nominations made. It is understood that everything is left open and every Republican member of the legislature is at liberty to vote to-morrow for whomsoever he pleases. The vote at least will be [illegible] but probably not decisive.

MASSACHUSETTS

Injured by an Earth Slide

FALL RIVER, Feb 13. Three men were injured this afternoon on the new line of railroad between here and New Bedford near Mill Village, by earth caving in on them. Jas. Long residing on Central street, is so badly injured internally that his recovery is doubtful. John Doyle of Holyoke, Mass., had his ankle fractured, and Thomas Malone of [illegible] was badly bruised about the head and [illegible].

The Detective Bill

BOSTON, Feb 13. Governor Gaston signed the detective bill this morning and it becomes a law at once as far as to allow the appointment of the chief and detectives. It does not abolish the present State police until March 1st.

ILLINOIS

A Protest Against the Consecration of James DeKoven.

CHICAGO, Feb 12. The members of the late diocesan convention have issued a protest in the form of a memorial. It sets forth the reasons why James DeKoven can not with their consent be consecrated Bishop of Illinois. First, as to the want of soundness of faith which is so far doubtful it has an impediment to his consecration within the meaning of the canons. Second, the effect of such a consecration upon the church would they assert be especially disastrous in Illinois the battle-ground of the so-called Reformed Episcopal Church. To consecrate one of the leaders of the movement to obscure the plain teachings of the church by imparting to it subtleties of medievalism would be to drive conscientious laymen from the field. Third the invalidity of the alleged election. On this point they quote canonical law and reproduce the ballot to show that the number of votes for DeKoven were not sufficient to elect him.

NEW YORK CITY

Thurlow Weed Injured—A Freight and an Ice Blockade.

NEW YORK, Feb 13. Thurlow Weed is confined to his house by severe injuries received by falling on the ice. The ice continues in the rivers and bay and the probabilities are that the experience of the past will be continued to-day. The accumulation of ice in the Hudson River has prevented the carrying of freight for the railroads which run through New Jersey from this city so that large quantities of merchandise remain in the freight houses on both sides, seriously embarrassing the railroad companies and injuring the merchants.

If the Ice Permits.

The weather to-day has continued cold, but quite pleasant. Agents of the Fall River line state that none of their steamers have been running since last Tuesday evening, and none have been locked up in the ice as erroneously reported. The boats will commence running next Monday if the state of the ice permits.

Later—The Rivers Clear of Ice.

NEW YORK, Feb 14. The rivers are comparatively clear of ice to-day, and little or no interruption of navigation. Some steamers to have sailed yesterday were detained until Monday.

WASHINGTON.

Hatch Pronounces Irwin's Testimony False.

WASHINGTON, Feb 12. The Ways and Means Committee resumed the Pacific Mail investigation, Rufus Hatch Managing Director of the Company being sworn and interrogated as to the alleged authorization by the Company of Irwin's expenditures in Washington responded by reading a statement that as to Irwin's allegation that he was acting under a contract with the Pacific Mail Company in his transactions in Washington after a careful and thorough examination of all the books and records of the Company he was prepared to swear that all of Irwin's evidence in the connection is absolutely false. Hatch continued stating that all the arrangements between Irwin and Stockwell were of a personal nature and were not authorized by the directors of the Company.

A. H. Whiting is now in Washington and ready to testify before the Ways and Means Committee? The bill introduced by Representative Cessna to-day, amendatory of the act for the adjudication of the Alabama claims, contains a provision making it the duty of the court to receive and examine all claims that may be presented to it within three months from the passage of the bill, resulting from the damage caused by the Shenandoah previous to her departure from Melbourne, and by the so called insurgent cruisers, Boston, Chickamauga, Georgia, Jeff. Davis, Nashville, Retribution, Sallie, Sumpter and Tallahassee respectively. The bill was referred to the Committee on Judiciary. The House Committee on Louisiana Affairs returned from New Orleans to-day. Testimony taken there will make 20,000 foolscap pages. Zeigler, Chairman of the Conservative Committee has also reached Washington.

A New Phase in the Pacific Mail Subsidy Case.

The following self-explanatory letter was delivered to-day:

Washington Feb 13 1875

Clark Bell, Esq, Counsellor Pacific Mail Steamship Company. Dear Sir—You will, without delay notify each and every person who's names have been certified to as having received any part of the money abstracted from the Pacific Mail Steamship Company by A. B. Stockwell and one Richard B. Irwin while they were officers of said company, that unless the amount so certified and admitted to have been received by them is promptly refunded to the company you will use all means known to the law to compel immediate and prompt settlement. Very truly yours

(Signed) RUFUS HATCH

Managing Director and Executive Officer P. M. S. Co.

Death of Representative Hooper.

WASHINGTON, Feb 14. Hon Samuel Hooper, member of Congress from Mass., died this evening.

Speaker Blaine's Remarks in the Caucus

WASHINGTON, Feb 14. There having been some erroneous report of Speaker Blaine's speech in the Republican caucus Friday evening last the following is given as an authoritative outline of all he said. The Speaker confined his remarks to the proposition for a general suspension of the writ of habeas corpus and made no reference whatever to any other subject. He stated that he could see no possible reason for giving the President the power to suspend the great writ at his discretion in Mississippi and Michigan [illegible] was a disturbed condition of affairs in Louisiana or Mississippi. If there is a condition of affairs there to warrant it let the suspension be confined to the district [illegible]. He could not see why southern states like Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee that were now trying to [illegible] good government should be placed under the [illegible] by a suspension of the habeas corpus. Moreover the pending proposition was unlimited as to the territory and unlimited as to time. The bill it should be one which would confer upon the President of the United States for all time to come and even if the President might be the right and power to suspend the habeas corpus at his own discretion in any county, district or State within the Union. He felt a [illegible] for President Grant and would trust him as but he would never vote to confer this autocratic power upon any President now or hereafter. Even if no actual harm should come from it for a long period of years the people would in the end become too much familiarized with the suspension and would lose that intense jealousy of individual personal liberty which is the great characteristic of the Anglo-Saxon race, and which all our legislation should maintain rather than repress.

Correspondence Between Mazzini and Bismarck.

LONDON, Feb 13. The Florence Epoca has published a correspondence purporting to be between Mazzini and the Prussian Government. It contains a letter written by Mazzini to Bismarck in 1867. The latter is warned of the existence of an alliance between France and Italy. By concessions relative to Rome France had secured Italian aid in case of war with Prussia. Mazzini offers, if furnished with a million lire and arms, to frustrate the scheme [illegible]. He declares his information is trustworthy, but he is unable to give his authority. The Cologne Gazette is inclined to believe the correspondence, but the Berlin press repudiates it.

SPAIN.

Marshal Bazaine Insulted.

BAYONNE, Feb 13. Bazaine arrived at Santander yesterday. The French residents having asked for and obtained permission of the authorities to serenade him used the opportunity to hiss him and indulge in insulting cries. The crowd was dispersed by the police.

HON. SAMUEL F. HERSEY

Resolutions Adopted by the Universalist Sunday School

Following preamble and resolutions offered and adopted at the Universalist Sunday school on yesterday:

[illegible] Hersey the beloved [illegible] Sunday school, is no more [illegible] to the future as [illegible] [illegible] and [illegible] with [illegible]

[illegible] shall we hear the [illegible] voice giving his words of [illegible] and stimulating all to the performance of [illegible] duty. [illegible] stand before us and [illegible] his love for this school [illegible] his [illegible] his absence.

[illegible] of his abiding faith in the [illegible] of good over evil, of love over hate, of truth over [illegible] school of right over wrong, [illegible]

Resolved, That while we deeply deplore the loss which this Sunday school has sustained [illegible] one of our most [illegible] friends, we still believe that the good [illegible] done in the world [illegible] and that the noble deeds [illegible] kind and loving words [illegible] exemplary character of [illegible] Samuel F. Hersey will [illegible] in the memory of the members of this Sunday school [illegible] to inspire us always to [illegible] at this high moral courage and constancy, the affection [illegible] kindness of his heart [illegible] Christian [illegible] so well sustained [illegible] throughout his long [illegible] useful life.

Resolved, That the many kind and loving benefits he has bestowed upon this school in the [illegible] will ever [illegible] with which he has provided for our wants [illegible] merits and [illegible] our warmest gratitude.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of Gen. Hersey tendering to them herewith our profound sympathy [illegible] sorrow [illegible] the loss of an [illegible] husband [illegible] father and to us a very dearly beloved friend.

A [illegible] despatch says that the Grand Jury in Chicago has indicted the business managers of the morning and evening journals of that city for publishing lottery advertisements. The Grand Jury would find abundance of work here in Maine.

A Washington despatch says it now appears that the treaties pending in the Senate will necessitate an extra session of that body, and the President will soon issue a proclamation for that purpose.

A [illegible] of Republican Congressmen on Friday night considered the proposed political measure conferring upon the President extraordinary powers. No Senators were present. The bill as amended was ordered to be reported to the House. It authorizes the President to suspend the writ of habeas corpus in certain cases, additionally increases the election machinery as applicable to the Southern States, and visits with severe penalties all violations of its provisions. There was a very animated discussion, and Messrs. Blaine and Hale of Maine, Hawley of Connecticut and Willard of Michigan strongly opposed the radical features of the bill. A despatch says that the clause providing for the suspension of the writ of habeas corpus was vigorously opposed by Mr Blaine. The poll-tax clause was finally yielded up by the more radical members, who were, however in the majority. The remaining provisions of the bill were adopted, though some of the New England members declared unwillingness to support the measure in the House. The leading supporters of the bill were Lyman Tremaine of New York, Conger of Michigan, and Cobarn of Indiana. Mr Dawes and several other gentlemen who opposed the bill Thursday night were not present during the evening.

There is nothing at once more ludicrous and revolting in history than the spectacle of the old slave aristocracy, with its Northern lackeys, sitting in the capitol, calling itself a Democratic party, and stretching and straining the power of the Government to extend and perpetuate human slavery. This is what Mr. Cox and Mr. Randall and their party associates were trying to do but yesterday, shouting themselves hoarse about "freedom," and "the land of liberty" and the "home of the oppressed." And to-day they wish to administer a government in which the men whom they dealt with as property, as swine, as things without rights, are their equal citizens. They struggle to show that they may be trusted. They "acquiesce," and by-gones are to be by-gones. But the cat transformed into a seeming lady leaped for the mouse on the floor, and to the "Democrat" as this country knows him "the South" means a class, and the colored people are "lazzaroni" and niggers.—Harper's Weekly.

MAINE WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE CONVENTION

The annual meeting of the Maine Woman's Suffrage Convention was held in Augusta, in Representatives' Hall, Friday. The Journal says that Judge Kingsbury of Portland, President of the Association called the meeting to order.

The President made a few introductory remarks, and said it was a pleasure to look upon this audience, thought it as competent a Legislature as ever sat in this hall. Spoke of woman's work in the cause of popular liberty and her capacity and willingness to inaugurate great measures. The black men who could not read, the foreigners are given the right to vote, but woman is denied the right. He denied that it would make women masculine, urged the reading of Judge Dickerson's able opinion on the subject.

Dr. Blackwell was called upon and said he believed that the government of the people was the best government and that can be only when men and women co-operate.

A letter was received from Judge Dickerson saying that he regretted his inability to be present and expressed his sympathy with the objects of the Association.

Miss Eastman of Lowell Mass. was the next speaker. Wished that we could have the objections to woman suffrage concisely stated that we might combat them.

Lucy Stone was next introduced and was enthusiastically received. She expressed her pleasure that three Judges of the Supreme Court of Maine had taken the side of women. How can we join in the Centennial celebration when we are doing what King George did and against which our fathers pledged their lives and fortunes and sacred honor. The law is unequal for women and the sense of shame ought to prompt men to do their duty. She claimed woman need the ballot for her own sake, she ought not to be the heedless plaything and butterfly of fashion, but take her place by the side of the male and in the formation of the characters of those who are to form society and the world is an important one, and she needs everything that will give her help for her great task. When the pulpit becomes nothing [illegible] and the noblest works of the architect crumble to ruin woman's work will stand. But and [illegible] still utters woman has ascended the platform the pulpit and won the physician's diploma. In eloquent words in [illegible] Their hearers to take encouragement [illegible] above the [illegible].

In the evening Rev. A. [illegible] of Lewiston spoke very ably for the right of women to the ballot. Mrs. Abba Gould Woolson claimed the ballot for woman as a right. Rev. Miss Hains of Hallowell spoke ably and amusingly on the subject.

Resolutions were adopted asking the Legislature of Maine to enact a law empowering the women of Maine to vote at Presidential elections and all other elections in which the qualifications of electors are not prescribed by the laws of the state and to enact a law authorizing the appointment of women to [illegible] offices, and asking the Legislature to make women eligible to such offices as they may be elected to. [illegible] Gov. Dingley [illegible] Messrs. Talbot and Pike of the Constitutional Commission the thanks of the Convention for voting to abolish all distinctions of sex in the Constitution, thanking Judge Dickerson for his able opinion in reference to the rights of women to be Justices of the Peace, endorsing the Industrial School for Girls and commending the same to the care of the Legislature.

The following officers were elected for next year: President, Judge Kingsbury; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. [illegible] Quinby, Augusta; Recording Secretary, Mrs. W. D. Eaton, Dexter; Treasurer, Mrs. W. K. Lancy, Pittsfield.

The New Orleans correspondent of the Hartford Courant gives the following information:

In all the comments given by the Associated Press despatches of the evidence given before the Congressional Committee in New Orleans only those portions most favorable to the White League seem to reach the North. The writer was in attendance upon the committee for five days, and has read the testimony as given and as telegraphed to the papers of the North, and knows that the evidence as given will never appear fully before the public until the testimony is printed in Washington and then many persons who are loudest to denounce familiar with Louisiana affairs should read it will be greatly surprised.

PERILOUS VOYAGE OF A MACHIAS VESSEL. The brig Machias Capt. [illegible] which sailed from Cardenas January 19 for Portland with a cargo of molasses arrived at Portland Thursday night, together with a damaged condition and most of the crew frost bitten. The [illegible] considerable anxiety for the safety of the vessel and the report of the [illegible] shows that it had a perilous voyage. From Hatteras to Cape Cod [illegible] very heavy weather. Last Monday [illegible] a northeast snow storm [illegible] was forced to heave to [illegible] northerly gale shipping several seas which stove [illegible] forward house [illegible] the cabin with [illegible] water [illegible] decks with two feet of [illegible]. Were unable to [illegible] and lived on canned provisions chiefly. [illegible] vessel was relieved of [illegible] to make her manageable when bearing up for Cape Elizabeth Thursday morning had another thick snow storm. In the afternoon sighted Richmond Island [illegible] while running for Portland Head light carried away topmast backstays, the sea making a clean breach over the vessel. Came to anchor under the breakwater about [illegible] P. M. One of the crew was sent to the Hospital badly frost bitten.

MORE ROYAL MATCH MAKING. A statement confidently made in Paris to the effect that the Princess Beatrice of England is to be married to the son of the Grand Duke of Baden is noticed in the English papers. The first Grand Duke the Margrave of Baden received the higher title from Napoleon I. on the marriage of the former's heir with Sophie Beauharnois, Josephine's daughter, in 1806. Notwithstanding this fact the descendant of the first Grand Duke took part against the descendant of the first Napoleon in the late Franco-German war. The family was at one time immensely wealthy but the property has been made over to the State and the Grand Duke has a civil list of about $313,600 per year.

Business Items.

At Pol's you will find a nice lot of Clocks.

Within the whole range of tonic and alterative medicines known none is entitled to more consideration than the Peruvian Syrup. In all cases of enfeebled or debilitated constitution it is the very remedy needed. The most positive proof of this can be adduced.

A PLEA FOR THE HELPLESS.

BY HARRIET E. H. PIERCE.

To the Bangor Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals: these lines are respectfully inscribed.

Through the broad region of each powerful land,
God bless the kindly hearts, whose tenderness
Doth prompt, who ever ready, willing stand,
Wrongs of the brute creation to redress!

For reaching to the earth a remotest bound,
Daily to Heaven their mute appeals arise
Unto His ear, who with a love profound,
Doth heed the fallen sparrow when it dies!

On all His creatures rests His watchful eye,
And not unnoticed doth the feeblest fall,
Beneath the heaven's all spreading canopy,
In tender, pitying love He cares for all.

Calls us the heart, that list'lessly doth scan
Wrongs that should crimson every cheek with shame
Wrongs that bespeak His cruelty of man,—ill!
Which oft, in passion, are too vile to name!

Would that my woman's strength were far less weak
To check the impulses that move my breast!
Would that I might more eloquently speak
For these—the helpless and so sore oppressed!

Father of all! who from Thy throne on high,
Dost see thy creatures neath their torture dun
Swift as an arrow, that doth pierce the sky
For such as these, shall not Thy Judgments come
